

ALRIGHT

there's not much to life i just want someone i can love tonight i'd gladly risk the plight let's revel well as we breathe and swell when we both collapse
let us please relapse
each other soon and i won't hold you to your mind let's simplify our troubled lives let's go somewhere
i wanna share
i wanna feel what we keep up inside
and i must say
i won't stop trying
that's where all
all my world
and all your beauty lies we can fix all of our hunger pains with fleeting gains and we can let the rest
try to make sense of it where we leave ourselves on the grounds where your body melts want none left
let's catch our breath
and i'll rely on a heavy fine tonight
i wanna share
and weave out in the morning light and you can bet
i'll keep my mouth shut up till it's right...
